As for the vendors, National Student Clearinghouse reports having email communication with several institutions and is looking to be in talk with those institutions by the end of the week. ODHE is also in talks with NSC to host a vendor specific open forum and will provide meeting information when it becomes available. Parchment has informed ODHE that they have reached out to the schools they service and are moving along in the transition. They will be hosting a webinar regarding their services on Wednesday, September 21st.

Again, we invite you to remain active participants in the transition to vendor services. Feel free to reach out with your question, concerns, or needs for assistance to Joy Livergood, associate director of articulation and transfer technology initiatives at jlivergood@highered.ohio.gov or Dr. Paula Compton, associate vice chancellor of articulation and transfer at pcompton@highered.ohio.gov.
